DECEMBER 2022

Dear Members

Christmas is nearly here and this is the last newsletter of 2022!

Hopefully you have your preparations well in hand and all those Christmas projects started earlier in the year have been completed ready for the festive season.

This week is the Xmas Party and we look forward to welcoming all our members for a fun evening with some quizzes, games, a raffle and a special item on the agenda.

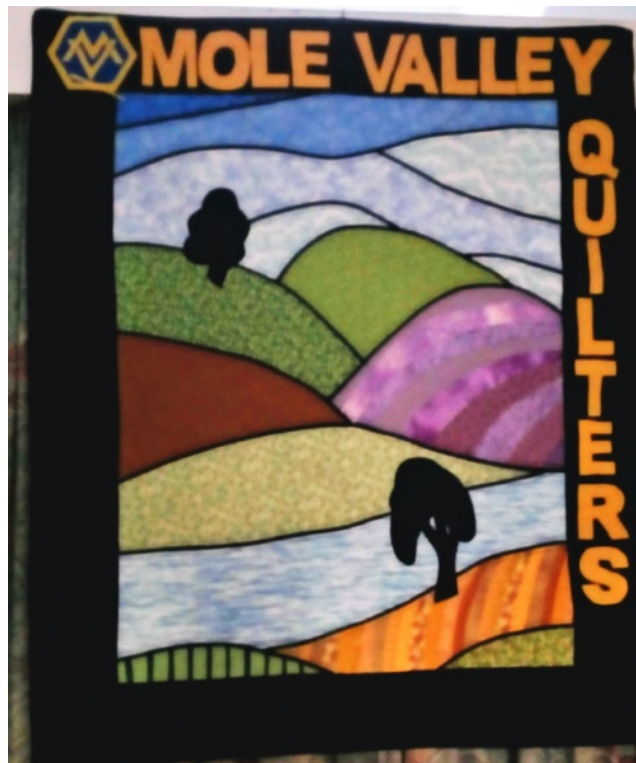

We are asking you to come along armed with any questions that you may have about sewing in general or quilting in particular which some of our more experienced quilters will try and answer. They can be on any topic, and I can guarantee that if you are puzzled by something plenty of other members will be wondering the same things!!

We would also like you to bring along any unfinished projects that you might be stuck with - and we all have those hidden away I am sure!

A problem shared is a problem halved they say - and hopefully your questions will be answered and it will help other members too

Wishing you all a peaceful and prosperous Xmas and New Year

CHANGE TO JANUARY MEETING

There is a change of programme for January.

On the program it is specified as a zoom meeting but unfortunately we are unable to broadcast on zoom at the moment. Instead - as the weather may not be good and it gets dark so early in January - we will be holding a one-off afternoon meeting which will enable most members to meet but get home earlier in the day. We intend to reschedule the booked speaker later in the year.

The meeting will be from 1.30 - 4.00 on January 5th in the Harrison Rooms

We will be using the opportunity to prepare fabric and appliqué for the quilt that will be raffled on Bookham Village Day. The theme is "Safari" and members are asked to contribute a square for the children's quilt. The Club will provide background fabric and appliqué patterns for the quilt suitable for all abilities.

LIBRARY SALE

The sales table in the library on 12 November raised an amazing £90 for club funds, thanks to the hard work of Pam and her ladies who manned the stall and those members who kindly made items for sale. The sales table also helped to raise the profile of the club which hopefully will lead to new members next year

Our next table sale will be at Marthas Xmas Market in Leatherhead Parish Church Hall this coming Saturday 3rd December.

If anyone has any items for sale could they bring them along to the meeting on Thursday - many thanks
